Eugene, the confectionary man says in his ads this week that he is going to treat all the Ladies and Gentlemen in town if they come at the right hours. Rather a big treat that, but that is the kind of a man Eugene is, a big hearted, open handed fellow. If you don't know him, you ought too.

Did you know that Snethen sold harvesting machines? Well he does. The best kind made. You know what kind that is.—The McCormick,—everybody knows—has known for years—that there is no harvesting machine like the McCormick kind. See Snethen about it. He has some other things to sell that you may need too.

Don't miss the game Sunday against the Wabash Locals of St. Louis.

Politeness and the Clock.

When a very polite woman has company she never looks at the clock. If by any means her eyes must wander to that side of the room she very carefully looks above the clock, or below it, or to one side of it, but never is she guilty of the rudeness of looking at the clock itself. When a guest looks at the clock and comments upon the lateness of the hour, then a hostess may look at it, but she must immediately, in very polite and ladylike terms, insist that the clock lies; that it is at least four hours too fast. The clock is an important factor in true politeness. Only by utterly ignoring it when there is company can a woman become a perfect lady.—Atchison Globe.

Women Growing Younger.

No women need now regard herself as passeé at 50. Ripened charms should be at their meridian. Society, so far from relegating her to the background, ignores the flight of years in a belle of past conquests. In the words of a competent London observer, "there has been a complete disappearance of the middle-aged woman. The social world seems now to be made up of girls, young married women and old ladies who are great-grandmothers. Every one has bright eyes, a flower face and a slender form, and every one is dressed to perfection, the same style suiting equally well the girl of 18 and her mother."

Knowledge of Reality.

Nothing is so valuable as a knowledge of reality. No other knowledge is permanently valuable without it. The extent to which the human mind is capable of deceiving itself with knowledge of phenomena, the better to avoid the temporary discomfort of recognizing the vital truths of progress, is only less remarkable than the extent of the power it is capable of exerting when once inspired by the consciousness that it has become the vehicle of some truth necessary for the world's advancement.—William Vincent Byers, "An American Commoner."

Queer Effect of Extreme Cold.

Some idea of the effect of extreme cold can be gained from the account given by Dr. Kane of an incident which occurred when an expedition went north in search of Franklin. The crew organized some amateur theatricals, says Dr. Kane, and the condensation was so excessive that "we could barely see the performers; any extra vehemence of delivery was accompanied by volumes of smoke; their hands steamed. When an excited performer took off his coat he steamed like a dish of potatoes."

From Bad to Worse.

Wife (angrily)—Well, there's no use in arguing the matter. When I set my foot down that covers the entire ground.

Husband (calmly)—I wouldn't make it quite that strong, my dear, but your foot certainly does cover a good deal of ground.

To Call Out Stations.

"The number of people who speak the English language is now estimated at 175,000,000," remarked the boarder who had been gleaning statistics from a patent medicine almanac.

"So?" rejoined the fussy old bachelor at the pedal extremity of the mahogany. "It's a wonder they don't employ some of them as guards on the elevated trains."

Had Hoped for Real Money.

"Mr. Heavyweight," said the minister, "is willing to subscribe $10,000 for a new church, provided we can get other subscriptions making the same amount."

"Yet you seem disappointed," said his wife.

"Yes, I was in hopes he would contribute $100 in cash."—Town and Country.

The Merry Matrons

Mrs. R. G. White, one of the most charming members of the Merry Matrons, entertained the Club in her always pleasant manner Friday evening. The interior of the White home was bright and beautiful and never were the Merry Matrons merrier. Mrs. White was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. R. S. Paul and Mesdames Nowlin and Clark. The first entertainment of the evening was drawing each matron's profile on a large card, which was afterwards used as a place card, each required to find her place at the table by finding her likeness. Next on the program was relating short stories and illustrating same on a black board. Truly Montgomery is not aware of the hidden talent it has within its gates. The Merry Matrons are Artists. After the tales were told and illustrated the hostess presented each with a turkey tale feather, asking her to accept a "parting tale." Last but not least was the excellent salad course to which all did ample justice. The club never bid a more reluctant adieu to a hostess than on that night. The next hostess will be Mrs. John Evered.

Nice line of High Grade candies and cigars at J. F. Hassler's.

Pleasantly Entertained

Miss Lulu Smith was hostess at a delightful six o'clock, four course dinner at her home Friday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jacks, Misses Celeste Taylor, Blanche Gove, Maybelle Gove, Nellie Blaine, Esther Locke, Messrs. Carl Dungan, Julian Ham, Floyd Kidwell, John Hunter and Dick Appling.

St. Louis Live Stock Market.

Special to Montgomery Tribune.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2, 1908.

Cattle receipts today 2500. Good cattle strong; generally 10c to 15c above last week's close. Others steady. Best steers today $7.15. They were not prime. Buyers have liberal orders for good stuff, but demands for fair to medium killing grades limited, and reports indicate liberal arrivals of Texas cattle which compete directly with those grades during the next forty-eight hours, and that will likely affect values of all but good cattle. In our opinion there is no danger in holding strictly choice stuff that is doing well, but other kinds had just as well be shipped.

Hog receipts exceeded all estimates; total here 15,000; market 10c lower; top $5.60; bulk $5.40 to $5.55. Good pigs $4.65 to $4.99. Looks strong for closing days this week and no decided change either way soon.

Sheep receipts 3500. Sheep slow; top wethers $4.75. Lambs steady with yesterday 25c to 40c below last weeks close. Top clipped lambs $5.75; top spring lambs $6.85. Good many Tenn. lambs coming. Outlook weak.

They enjoyed a fine basket dinner at Graham's Rock, and all had a good time.

Decoration Day

On last Saturday, May 30th, the G. A. R. post of this city held appropriate Decoration Day services. At nine o'clock the veterans assembled at Court House and to the music of life and drum marched to the cemetery where the customary services were held and flowers strewn upon the graves of old soldiers. At two o'clock the camp fire was lighted in the Circuit Court room of the Court House. A program of patriotic music and speaking was enjoyed. Rev. H. D. Thompson and James E. McQuie were the orators of the occasion.

On Sunday morning the members of the post marched in a body to the Methodist church where the memorial sermon was preached by the pastor.

Pioneer Mason Dead

J. D. Wells, a pioneer mason of this county died in his home at Bellflower Monday, June 1st. He settled in this county in 1852 and was a charter member of Griswold Lodge, No. 178 of Bellflower. He was the first Mason raised in that lodge. He was raised in 1858. He died at the age of ninety-three years. Sunday Ball Game

To the tune of 8 to 7 the home boys were defeated Sunday by the Black Leather Club of St. Louis, with Haight in the box for the first three innings it seemed to be a walk away for Montgomery but he became wild and ineffective and by bunching hits and errors by our boys, they managed to score enough runs to win the game. The happy faculty that Montgomery has always shown of never giving up until the last man is out was again displayed and with the score 6 to 0 against them the boys pulled up with only one run behind them and had it not been for some very dumb coaching by Lorton and some very dumb base running by Ferguson the score would have been tied and more than likely we would have had another tune to sing because Shackleford entered the box on the seventh innings and proved very effective against them. Ham as good an amateur catcher as wears glove and mask, and who plays the game so well all the time played like a third rater, when with two men out he deliberately threw the ball away and let in a run that should not have been scored. He might watch this play next time.

Next Sunday the Wabash Club of St. Louis that has lost but one game this season will play here and if our boys play the game as they are capable of playing, it is more than likely that the Wabash team will have two defeats to go home with.
